

Managing Your License

What This Means

Your Steel Security licenses are managed through your account portal.

This allows you to view, track, and control how your licenses are used across sites.

Where to Manage Your License

Licenses are managed through your Steel Security account portal.

From there, you can:

- view your active licenses
  - see which sites are using each license
  - manage activations

Viewing Active Sites

For each license, you can see:

- the sites currently using the license
  - how many activations are in use
  - available capacity (if applicable)

Managing Activations

You can manage your license usage by:

- identifying unused or inactive sites
- freeing up license slots
- reassigning licenses as needed

---

Keeping Your Licenses Organized

To maintain control over your licenses:

- deactivate licenses on unused sites
  - review usage periodically
  - ensure each active site is intended

What to Expect

- license usage updates as sites are activated or deactivated
  - changes may take a short time to reflect
  - your account portal provides the most accurate view of usage

When to Use This

You may need to manage your license when:

- you reach your site limit
  - you migrate or rebuild a site
  - you want to reassign licenses
